

Already there are growing complaints about the homogenizing of US mainstream media, with more and more US citizens seeking foreign news sources for variety and balance. This idea of allowing further consolidation is frightening, to say the least. Please don't do it!